NEBRASKA EXCEEDS LIMIT.

SEATTLE, July 17.—In the official endurance test today the battleship Nebraska went over the four mile course at an average rate of 19.06 miles an hour, exceeding the contract requirement by .06 knots per hour. Moran Brothers, the builders express great satisfaction at the showing in view of the fact that the crew consisted largely of university students, while in the east when a battleship is tried out, she invariably is manned by a picked crew.

EX-PRESIDENT PELLGRINI DIES.

BUENOS AYRES, July 17.—Dr. Carlos Pelligrini, former president of Argentina, died last night.

ARE LEPERS BUT STICK TO POLITICS

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Even leprosy cannot force Filipinos to abandon politics. The Bureau of Insular Affairs has received reports of an election recently held on the Island of Culion by the leper colony for the choice of a president and "consejales." The lepers also took occasion at the time of the election to formulate resolutions thanking the Philippine government for the

SPECIAL TAX FOR ROADS PROVIDED BY NEW BILL

ALBANY, Ore., July 17.—A law providing for voting a special road improvement tax in districts where it is desired, is to be framed in Linn county and presented to the next session of the Oregon Legislature. Under its provisions every road district may vote a district tax for its own use as school districts do not.

Certain district have not realized enough money from the county road tax to supply their needs for road improvement work, although a majority of the residents of the districts were ready and willing to pay a special tax for this purpose.

MADE A THIEF BY TOOTHACHE.

OLYMPIA, July 17.—Governor Mead has been asked to relieve Charles Wright, of Spokane, of the consequences of a bad toothache and will take up the matter within a few days. Wright says that he was suffering with a severe attack of toothache while out in the country beyond Spokane, and that he went to Deer Park in search of a dentist. There was no toothyanker there, and the young man filled up on cross-roads whisky. The bartender mentioned there was a doctor at Chatteroy, seven miles distant, who occasionally pulled "teeth." Wright, full of liquor and toothache, seized the first team he saw and drove to Chatteroy. He had the tooth pulled, paid the dentist, but as he started back to return the team, he was arrested charged with horsetealing. He was sentenced to serve a year in the Spokane county jail. His term is now nearly ended. He asks the Governor to pardon him.

LIGHT DOCKET AT HILLSBORO.

HILLSBORO, July 17.—Judge McBride convened the July term of Circuit Court here yesterday. Yesterday was occupied by granting a few minor default orders, and from present appearances court will adjourn the latter part of the week. If any business remains unfinished, Judge Galloway, of McMinnville will complete the term, as next Monday Judge McBride will preside at the trial of A. J. Hembree, accused of murder in Tillamook.

GOLD IS DISCOVERED.

SEATTLE, July 17.—A special to the Times from Fort Gibbons, Alaska, says the box of gold stolen from the steamer Ida May, has been found in the woods in the outskirts of town by Northern Commercial Agent Rexman.

It was intact and nothing was missing. Many are under suspicion, but no arrests are made yet.

DEMOCRATS NOMINATE.

SEATTLE, July 17.—A special to the Post-Intelligencer from Juneau, Alaska, states the democrats today nominated Judge H. W. Mellen for the long term and ex-Judge Swineford for the short term to Congress. Mellen is governor Hoggatt's father-in-law.

NEW POSTMASTER AT PENDLETON.

PENDLETON, Ore., July 17.—James T. Brown, newly appointed postmaster of Pendleton, entered upon his duties today, relieving Lot Livermore. The salary of the postmaster is advanced from $2400 to $2500 a year, and an additional clerk is allowed the office, making ten clerks now on the force.

VICTIM OF PRACTICAL JOKE.

SALEM, July 17.—Battery A, Field Artillery, is having some amusement out of its practice march. A joke has been perpetrated upon some of the recruits by older members, who induced them to file their claims for overtime with Captain Welch. Claims have been filed by different members for from one hour to one hour and a half overtime.

RIGID POLICY TOWARD SALEM SALOON MEN

SALEM, July 17.—Salem's City Council has adopted a stringent rule under which all liquor dealers who fail to make application for a renewal of license at least 20 days before the expiration of their old licenses will be refused renewal.

Neusbaum Brothers and J. A. Cooper have made application for the renewal of liquor licenses, which expired July 1. Their saloons have been open without license since. The Council voted to hold the applications until Cooper paid $123 and Neusbaum Brothers $159 for overdue slot machine licenses. Cooper is accused of keeping his saloon open Sunday since his license expired.

HUNT FOR LOST BOY.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., July 17.—Up to noon today no trace of Cecil Brittain the 4-year-old boy who strayed from camp at Tollgate Sunday morning, had been found. About 75 men are searching through the mountains and along the streams. A large delegation of members of the Masonic fraternity of Walla Walla for the camp last night, and this morning the Oddfellows left for the scene. Mrs. Brittain, mother of the child, is almost frantic with grief, and is in danger of losing her mind unless the boy is found dead or alive. All streams have been dragged, but there is no trace of the body. The theory advanced that he has been devoured by wild beasts is believed by those familiar with the surrounding country.

HEMBREE JAUNTILY AWAITS TRIAL

TILLAMOOK, Ore., July 17.—A. J. Hembree, who is awaiting trial for murder, was brought in on Sunday from the Yamhill County Jail, at McMinnville, where he has been confined, and is now in the jail of the new court house at this place, which has been but recently completed. Sheriff Crenshaw brought him in.

Hembree will be tried here July 24 before Judge McBride.

A. J. Hembree is accused of burning his home at Sandlake, and consuming the bodies of his wife and daughter in the dwelling, on the night of Friday, December 29, 1905. It is alleged that Hembree attempted an operation on his daughter which cost her life, and to cover up this crime he burned his home and consumed the bodies of his wife and daughter. Two boys of the family were away at the time visiting near Cloverdale.

The funeral of Mrs. Hembree and her daughter Ora took place in Cloverdale. The remains of the bodies were two small portions of the trunks and were buried in a cranberry box, which holds two bushels.

A few days after the fire an old cast-iron stove was found in the ruins, and in this stove were found what were declared by physicians to be human skulls. To all appearances Hembree does not take his case seriously.

MERLIN CLAIMS HOLY ROLLERS

Originals of Creffieldians Appeared on Rogue River in 1897.

MERLIN, Ore., July 17.—During the fall of 1897 there appeared in this community Lute, Swanson and Beckett, with their families, preaching a new religion, a feature of which was that its converts rolled on the floor. When the rainy season began regular services were conducted in the hophouse of H. L. Robertson, four miles west of Merlin, on Rogue River. Lute was credited with exercising hypnotic power over his subjects. During these meetings the women discarded all their jewelry and wore only the plainest clothes. The name "Holy Roller" was given them by the boys and girls of Merlin, who often went to witness their strange antics. A great many who were under the spell were so ridiculed that they gave up the practice. However, today there are a few who are loyal to the faith, and have their little church and regular service. They have discarded the rolling. Where Lute, Swanson and Beckett went no one seems to know, and the next heard of the Holy Rollers was at Corvallis, where the name evidently stuck to them after Creffied secured the ascendancy.

INVESTIGATION A FARCE.

BUFFALO, July 17.—C. J. Grammar, vice-president of the New York Central lines, who was a witness before the grand jury at Cleveland, said tonight the investigation was a farce. He said he took papers and data before the grand jury which proved the charge of rebating absurd.
